La Follette Controls Delegation, but Poll Favors Wood and Lowden.

SENATOR LIKES JOHNSON

Peculiar Situation Explained by Socialists Balloting in G. O. P. Primary.

WISCONSIN

According to the poll of the county chairmen of Wisconsin taken by THE BUN AND NEW YORK HERALD the first choice of the Republicans of that State for the Presidential nomination is Major-General Leonard Wood. The second choice is Governor Frank O. Lowden of

On April 6 the candidates of Senator Robert M. La Foilette for delegates to the national convention were elected in the national convention were elected in all except one Congress district. Johnson, the fact remains that the Republican county chairmen, asked to express their opinion as to the preferences for President of the Republicans in dry issue, although sentiment in Wishers counties, indicated Wood as first counties, indicated Wood as first counties, indicated Wood as first counties.

This is the way the percentages ran in the "first choice" column: Wood, 28.3; Lowden, 13.2; La Follette, 13.3; Senator Irvine L. Lenroot, 13.2; Johnson, 6.65; Charles E. Hughes, 6.66; Herbert Hoover, 6.65, and Gov. Philipp, 6.66.

This was the result in percentages in the "second choice" column: Lowden, 26.65; Wood, 23.33; La Follette, 13.33; Johnson, 19; Gov. Calvin Coolidge, lowing, according to the special correspondence.

Hoover, 6.66; none, 6.66.

As the combined "first choice" and "second choice" percentages of Lowden was 40 to 26.66 for La Foliette, the former is entitled to the place in the second choice column of the table.

Vote in the State Primary.

With complete and official returns from all except a few countles in the State, the primary vote stands: La Foliste slate — Thompson, 98,696; Blaine, 96,042; Gross, 91,479; Krumrey, 2014. 90,164. Uninstructed slate—Phillipp, 60,752; Hatton, 54,095; West, 49,642; osshard, 49,536.

"The conservative wing of the party claims that it is in no sense a La Follette victory," writes a correspondent. "The voting strength of the State is 550,000, while the high man polled less than 100,000 votes. It seemed evident that many of the small percentage of the voters who went to the polls because of municipal elections paid no attention to the separate ballot for delegates to national convention." In the reports received from the Re-ublican county chairmen "American-m" was mentioned as a leading issue, with "Economy" and a sound business administration in Washington running well up. Prohibition was mentioned a number of times, indicating the liberal trend of thought in Wisconsin. One man threated his thought as: "Manufacture C.O.P. IND. phrased his thought as: "Manufacture G. O.
